TECTONICA LAUNCHES DEFENCE AND SECURITY APP COMPETITION

Today Tectonica launched its “Got a Great App Idea” competition. The winner will receive $5,000 in prize money for the best Defence or Security based App idea. The competition is a great opportunity for you to put your App ideas to the test.

Our panel of judges will be searching for the App idea that addresses a Defence or Security need in a novel way and delivers the end user with the greatest improvement in capability.

This competition marks a major step towards introducing tailored smartphone and tablet technology into the Defence and Security communities. With the potential to deliver significant capability enhancements, smartphone and tablet applications offer a familiar and user friendly means of communicating a wide range of information.

Managing Director Miles Partridge said, “Tectonica is leading the way in developing Apps tailored for use in the Defence and Security markets. There is exciting growth in ruggedised smartphones and tablets and we look forward to contributing to capability with Apps that service the needs of the Defence and Security users.”

Tectonica’s Defence App Development services provide highly tailored and easy to use Applications. App use can range from areas such as training, education and healthcare to planning and command support tools.
